ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

The Administration building, erected in 1905-06 at a cost of $65,000.00, is a large imposing structure of brick and stone. The walls of the principal rooms are tinted and frescoed. The large chapel is one of the handsomest halls of its kind in the state. The recitation rooms are large, supplied with good seats, an abundance of light, good blackboards, and other conveniences for teaching. The scientific department is located in the basement of this building. The laboratories are large rooms well furnished and equipped. The society halls and the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. rooms are attractive and well furnished. The entire building is heated with steam and lighted with electricity.

CLARK HALL.

Clark Hall, our dormitory, named for Thomas L. Clark, who contributed most of the money for its erection, is a three-story brick building, trimmed with stone, and arranged for the convenience and comfort of fifty young men. The basement contains a dining room, with ample light and ventilation; also a kitchen with store-rooms, etc. The building is heated with gas and lighted with electricity.

The Dormitory is the best place for boys at the Wesleyan. The testimony of the Dormitory boys is: "Live with the fellows, and you will never regret it." In the Dormitory one bed room is always reserved for any old student that may stop in Winchester for a night. At Clark Hall a genuine welcome awaits every visiting K. W. C. student.

As there is no Dormitory for girls at the Wesleyan, they may secure board in approved private homes.

OUR NEW LIBRARY.

Our new library is completed. The cost price, $15,000.00, was a gift of Mr. Carnegie. The friends of the Wesleyan contributed $15,000.00 for its endowment. It is a beautiful stone structure. On the main floor are the stack rooms, librarian's room, and two reading rooms. The furniture is of first class material, good workmanship, and attractive in appearance. On the basement floors are the furnace room, unpacking room, toilet rooms, and a large room that may be used for an additional stack room. The building is heated with hot water and lighted with electricity. The library is indeed a valuable addition to our college plant.

Recently the library has received several donations of books. A large part of the private library of the late Dr. E. H. Pearce will be placed in the library before the opening of college in September.

THE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

During the year 1906, a two-story brick and stone building was erected on the campus for the use of the Preparatory Department. This building is modern in all its appointments; its rooms are large and well lighted and heated.

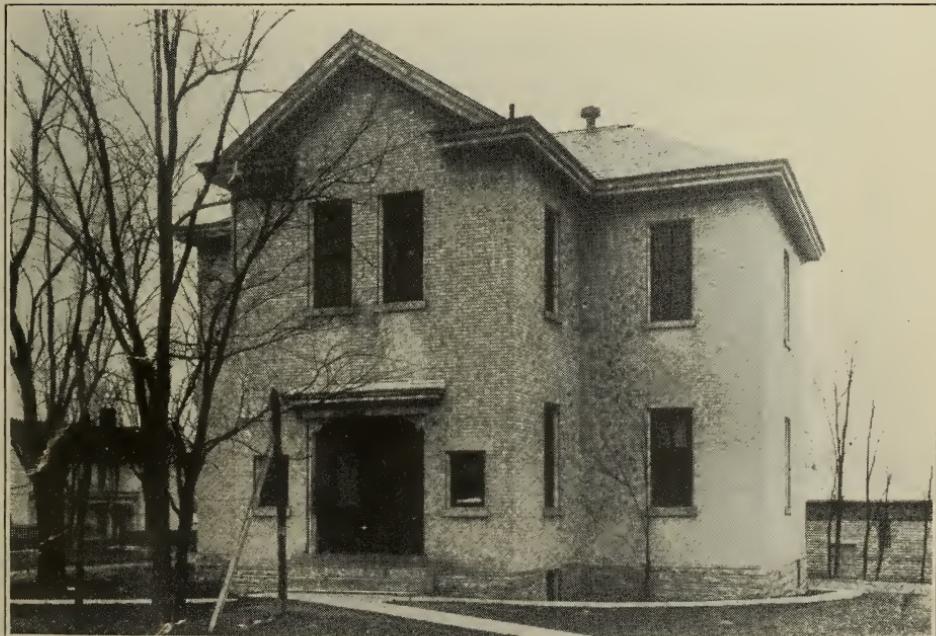

THE PRESIDENTS HOME.

This building was recently purchased by the Board of Education for the president's use. It is a neat frame building, conveniently arranged, and well located. It is situated just across the street from the campus. At the home of the president, the students and friends of the Wesleyan are ever welcome.

THE GYMNASIUM.

The old gymnasium was too small, especially for basketball purposes, so it was determined to provide an additional gymnasium. Last fall the broom plant was torn down and rebuilt to meet our gymnasium needs. The new gymnasium is a concrete-block building. It has a fine floor. There are two dressing rooms connected with this building. The bath room, equipped with shower baths, is connected with the old gymnasium. The old gymnasium is equipped with apparatus necessary to the proper physical development of the students. With two gymnasiums the Wesleyan can surely meet all reasonable demands for physical training.

The Kentucky Wesleyan is well located. Winchester is situated at the intersection of three important railroads--the Louisville and Nashville, the Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Lexington and Eastern. There is no more healthful location in Kentucky. Winchester is one of the best and most attractive towns in the famous blue-grass region; and there is no more attractive placee in or about the town than the Kentucky Wesleyan campus. There are eight acres in the campus—athletic field, tennis courts, etc.

The Wesleyan is one of the recognized colleges of the state. Fifteen units are required for admission; through college courses leading to the degree of B. S., A. B., and M. A. The work done at the Wesleyan is accepted by leading universities.

Wesleyan graduates make good; fifty-six business men, 72 teachers, 45 lawyers, 22 physicians, 26 farmers, 5 druggists, 4 journalists, 6 college presidents, 1 Y. M. C. A. secretary, 7 missionaries, 46 ministers. Graduates are in 28 States and 6 countries. Ten graduates this year make the total number three hundred.

The Wesleyan is especially interested in those preparing for the ministry and other Christian service. In addition to the regular college courses, it offers a four years course in the English Bible; also a course in Sunday School and Christian work methods. Many appreciating their value take these courses. The Bible course is required.

The college is also intensely interested in the education of prospective teachers. Successful teaching demands thorough preparation. There is an increasing demand for college-trained teachers, especially is this true in connection with the High schools. This year the demand has been greater than the supply. As an incentive to prospective teachers to secure more thorough preparation, the recent legislature passed a law granting the Board of Education the right to certificate—without examination—college graduates to teach in the High schools of the state.

There are the following students organizations at the Wesleyan: Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Literary Societies, Athletic Association, Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, Staff of the Kentucky Wesleyan and Student Volunteer Band.

Under supervision of the faculty Wesleyan teams are permitted to take part in the intercollegiate athletics. The various teams made a reasonably good record during the past year. There is promise of greater interest, activity, and success next year. There is a fine opportunity at the Wesleyan for students desiring to take part in athletics.

The following medals are awarded at the Wesleyan:

For Oratory—By Rev. W. G. McCready, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Dr. C. B. VanArsdale, Harrodsburg, Ky.

For Best Essay in Elective English—By Prof. J. H. Hewlett,

For Best All Round Athlete—By Kentucky Wesleyan Athletic Association.

For Best All Round College Student—President Clark offers one term's tuition.

M. H. Holland, M. O. Ross, B. S. Robbins, and W. H. Moore won medals this year.

Expense at the Wesleyan is very reasonable: $190.00 will meet the year's expense for board, room rent, light, heat, tuition, and fees. $160.00 will meet the expense of one possessing a scholarship.

The following are exempt from the payment of tuition: Those presenting certificates from owners of scholarships, authorizing us to admit the bearers; Young men preparing for the ministry; The children of ministers; Beneficiaries of the Garth Fund, of Bourbon County; Free tuition for one year will be given the honor graduate of any High school of the state.

Kentucky Wesleyan College is a Christian institution—not a sectarian institution. Its professors are Christians. Wholesome moral and religious influence is brought to bear upon the students. Christian students are stimulated to seek the highest development of character and perfection of life; non-Christian students are encouraged to accept Christ. The object of the institution is to provide distinctively Christian education. The Christian college stands for the complete development of the student; body, mind, and soul. Believing the religious element essential to true education, Kentucky Wesleyan College provides for the same.

The college has just closed a very successful year, the next session will open September 8th, 1915.

THE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The completion of the eighth grade is required for admission. The preparatory course is equivalent to a first-class High school course.

The teachers are competent and experienced. We are fortunate in securing Prof. D. H. Lyon to assist in teaching in this department next year.

Parents, contemplating sending children away from home to secure High school training, would do well to place them in the preparatory department at the Wesleyan. The expense will not be greater; the advantages will be much greater.
